The jury's second selection of the 2011 Jan Michalski Prize has been announced. They are:

- ★ The White King by György Dragomán (novel)
- ★ The Solitude Project by Mark Kharitonov (novel)
- ★ Godot's Shadow by Antoni Libera (novel)
- ★ The Blue Fox by Sjórn (novel)
- ★ Ilustrado by Miguel Syjuco (novel)

The award recognizes a work (fiction or nonfiction) of international literature, "irrespective of the language in which it is written". The jury will deliberate and select the winner in November 2011. The prize includes a cash reward of about $60,000. Shortlisted authors are also offered a three-month residency in Switzerland. A very good source for translated fiction.
